NEWS | POSTED FEBRUARY 14, 2020

Call for Submissions: APA's Technology, Mind & Society conference

Posted on behalf of the American Psychological Association (APA)

Call for Submissions Now Open

The American Psychological Association will hold its third interdisciplinary Technology, Mind & Society conference in Denver, Colorado, Nov. 12–14, 2020. TMS is the premier interdisciplinary venue for emerging research and innovation on the dynamics of human–technology interaction. Join scientists, industry leaders, practitioners, students and policymakers in exploring the critical role psychology plays in the design, use, adoption and impact of technology and the artificial intelligence that powers it.

Learn More

Deadline for submissions: April 10, 2020

APA invites papers, symposia, posters, lightning talks and hackathons for this event. TMS 2020 will showcase the latest basic and applied research on topics such as:

- Artificial intelligence
- Big data
- Information science
- Neuroscience and neurotechnology

- Ethical implications and responsible AI
- Augmented reality and virtual reality
- Cybersecurity
- Telehealth
- Human–machine interface
- Robotics
- Automation
- Health care technology
- Biotechnology

If you have questions or need more information, please email tms@apa.org.

In an effort to ensure diverse perspectives and a broad range of expertise, APA is opening a call for TMS 2020 reviewers. To be considered, sign up by April 1, 2020.