NEWS | POSTED MAY 28, 2021

AERA Virtual Research Learning Series: June 2 - July 8, 2021

Posted on behalf of the American Educational Research Association (AERA)

Professional Development and Training Courses

Dates: June 2 - July 8, 2021
Times: All courses are 1:00 - 5:00 PM ET
Fee: $55 per course (Includes access to all course materials and on-demand course recording)

AERA is pleased to offer a program of six engaging virtual professional development courses focused on topics in quantitative and qualitative research methods as well as strategies for scholars to increase writing productivity. Taught by leading experts in the field, these courses will offer opportunities for Q&A and interactive discussion and are designed to reach participants at multiple skill levels.

Learn more and register

RL2021-1: Qualitative Data Analysis and Dynamic Visualizations Using Freeware: Mapping, Organizing, and Visualizing Interdependent Events

Wednesday, June 2
Instructor:

- Manuel S. Gonzalez Canch, University of Pennsylvania

View course description

RL2021-2: Why Aren't You Writing? Clearing Obstacles to Productivity

Tuesday, June 8
Instructor:

- Sharon Zumbrunn, Virginia Commonwealth University

View course description

RL2021-3: Using R Software for Item Response Theory (IRT) Model Calibrations

Tuesday, June 15
Instructors:

- Ki L. Cole, Oklahoma State University
- Insu Paek, Florida State University
- Sohee Kim, Oklahoma State University

View course description

RL2021-4: Analyzing Large-Scale Assessment Data Using R

Tuesday, June 22
Instructors:

- Emmanuel Sikali, National Center for Education Statistics (course director)
- Paul Bailey, American Institutes for Research
- Ting Zhang, American Institutes for Research

- Martin Hooper, American Institutes for Research
- Michael Lee, American Institutes for Research
- Yuqi Liao, American Institutes for Research

View course description

RL2021-5: Designing Adequately Powered Cluster and Multisite Randomized Trials to Detect Main Effects, Moderation, and Mediation

Wednesday, July 7
Instructors:

- Nianbo Dong, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
- Benjamin Kelcey, University of Cincinnati
- Jessica Spybrook, Western Michigan University

View course description

RL2021-6: Multimodal Analysis and Social Semiotics for Qualitative Analysis in Educational Research

Thursday, July 8
Instructors:

- Mary McVee, University at Buffalo, SUNY
- Ryan Rish, University at Buffalo, SUNY
- Angel Lin, Simon Fraser University
- Qinghua Chen, Simon Fraser University

View course description