The 26th Biennial Meeting of the International Society for the Study of Behavioural Development (ISSBD), will take place in person on the Island of Rhodes in Greece, June 19-23, 2022.

The 2020 ISSBD conference, which was planned to take place at the same site, had to be cancelled due to the pandemic.

ISSBD will accept applications, without peer review, from colleagues and students who were planning to attend ISSBD 2020, provided that the work has not already been presented internationally or published in an international journal.

ISSBD will also open a new call for abstracts addressed to colleagues and students who hadn't planned to attend ISSBD 2020. Those applications will go through the normal peer review process.
