NEWS | POSTED JULY 16, 2018

Call for Manuscripts: Journal of Adolescence Special Issue

Special Issue Journal of Adolescence: Romantic Relationships and Sexuality in Adolescence

The goal of this special issue is to highlight current empirical findings in the areas of adolescent romantic and sexual development from around the globe. Submissions may pertain to all topics within the area of adolescent romantic and sexual development, especially manuscripts that focus on the following:

1. diversity – broadly defined – including sexual orientation, culture, physical health,
2. vulnerable and understudied populations,
3. sexuality in the context of romantic relationships, and
4. papers that highlight interdisciplinary and/or multimethod perspectives.

Manuscript proposals (500 words) are due by email to Manfred van Dulmen by September 15th 2018. A subset of proposals will be invited to submit a full manuscript (decision by November 1st 2018). Full manuscripts are due May 1st 2019 and should follow the author guidelines for the Journal of Adolescence.

Manuscript proposal Deadline: September 15th 2018

For questions or further information regarding the special issue, please contact Manfred van Dulmen(mvandul@kent.edu) or one of the co-editors:

- Daphne van de Bongardt
- Sophia Choukas-Bradley

- Graciela Espinosa-Hernandez