Summer Internships at the Learning Research and Development Center at the University of Pittsburgh

The Learning Research and Development Center at the University of Pittsburgh invites undergraduate students who are interested in gaining research experience in learning sciences to participate in their summer internship program. A large number of potential faculty mentors offer a variety of research experiences in a vibrant, interdisciplinary community of learning scientists. The program runs from May 20-June 30, 2018. Housing and stipend will be provided and some travel supplements are available. Applications are due April 1, 2018. Visit their website for more information.
