NEWS | POSTED MAY 14, 2018

Webinar- American Indian and Alaska Native Family and Child Experiences Survey 2015

Overview and Access to the American Indian and Alaska Native Head Start Family and Child Experiences Survey (AI/AN FACES) 2015

Research Connections and researchers from Mathematica Policy Research and the Office of Planning, Research and Evaluation, will be hosting a webinar on the new American Indian and Alaska Native Family and Child Experiences Survey 2015 (AI/AN FACES 2015) data file, the first national study of Region XI Head Start children and families.

The webinar will be held on June 4th and will introduce researchers to the study's purposes, design, instruments, and data structure. To obtain access to the AI/AN FACES 2015 data, researchers must complete the ICPSR standard application, as well as study-specific requirements. The training will present information on the application process and the special requirements for access and dissemination which includes review by the AI/AN FACES Data Committee per agreements with these tribal communities.

Date: June 4, 2018, 1:00pm EDT

To register, please visit the Head Start Webinar webpage.

For questions, contact Ambyr Amen-Ra at ambyrb@umich.edu.